

rmTeXGyreTermesX [*devanagari]rmLohit
Devanagari [*arabic]rmNoto Sans Arabic

LuaLaTeX and XeLaTeX Template for *ACL Style Files

Anonymous ACL submission

|                                                                                                            |                   |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------|
| Abstract                                                                                            | 001        |
| This document provides an example showing how to use the *ACL style files with either LuaLaTeX or XeLaTeX. | 002003004 |
| 1 Introduction                                                                                      | 005        |
| Please see the general instructions in the file <code>acl_latex.tex</code> .                               | 006007        |
| Here are some examples of text in various languages.                                                       | 008               |
| Hindi:                                                                                                     | 009               |
| Arabic:                                                                                                    | 010               |
| Here is an example citation: ? argues that...                                                              | 011012        |
| References                                                                                          | 013        |
| A Example Appendix                                                                                  | 014        |
| This is an appendix.                                                                                       | 015               |